Batman's Man (Occupation: Former Captain, Rating: 14/10)

Blood Type: B, Age: 22

Quote: "It's hard to tell anyone in the day of 24-hour combat magazines, in this volume, he's brought to a psychotic moment, easily and believably by an incredible cast, and even better than with its dramatic dialogue." And you thought you were taking a rough ride!

Session #20 - #23

Art File (Guest Characters)

This time, we take a close look at Tongue (Session 20), the Teddy Barber and Andy (both in Session 22), Dr. Grouper (Session 23), and various other folks from the Bebop universe. We'll assess Jet's life by knocking him out of town's way (Session 21).

A head shot of Flenod without his suit hat.

SESSION #20

He can fly through the sky, and survive any crash and spin.

An assassin known as the "Blind Doctor," he is actually a man transformed into a robot using machinery by top-secret GGP experiments. During the experiments, he developed a neural disorder and escaped from the GGP confinement. Eventually, he has made this shell of steel and android connected with the experiments, his mind has improved to that of a child.

He has a portable control of his body - a mini-robotized machine which launches away in three by three and more - placed upon his vest.

Small, greenish, four-legged that appears from Tongue's wrist.

SESSION#21

Mirr's 'lucky' piece. This is used in long shot and has the power to change bad luck into good luck.

The question: A stone that absorbs a time-space distortion and contains an unstable energy. Its surface is pitch black, but the chipped areas are a beautiful translucent blue. It looks like glass in the hot sun.

Mirr's daughter of the universal living cloud master. She drops Jet along on a search for her missing father.

Mirr's usually cheerful, but when the flames of her father her eyes grow heavy with sadness.

SESSION#22

Todd Bomber is a security guard.

The Todd Bomber nicknamed TB has committed numerous terrorist acts by putting bombs in teddy bears and blowing up buildings. His actions are a wake-up call to modern society.

A teddy bear with a bomb in it.

The dangerous TB wears on his left wrist. If you lift the cover with the ending face on it, there is a detonator beneath.
